A New Year, A New Idea

We are excited to announce a change coming to our monthly newsletter.

Beginning April 2022, we are launching a quarterly digital magazine. We want to offer more content with depth rather than time sensitive.

We are still producing our monthly update which will now include our monthly blog, along with our monthly digital artwork special, calendar of events, and we're adding a new section entitled 3t [tips, tricks, and techniques].

As we get closer to the launch, we'll share more about this new venture!

Here's to new possibilities with the new year!

National Handwriting Day | January 23

When someone asks for your John Hancock, they mean your signature. And why is that? John Hancock was the first person to sign the Declaration of Independence. And that autograph became so popular that it inspired a National Handwriting Day.

There is nothing better than a handwritten note to express love, gratitude, and congratulations. And what's better than creating that note with your own photos and memories.

Happy New Year, Friends!

As 2022 approaches, this year I'm not making resolutions. Did you know, according to psychologists, that resolutions fail 92 percent of the time? Three reasons for this, they say, are that resolutions aren't specific enough, are worded too negatively or really aren't relevant to your life.
